

MORNING APPEAL

SUNDAY.....APRIL 16

FLOOD ALL RIGHT.

It now transpires that Flood, the defaulting cashier of the Donohue-Kelly bank also robbed the McShane estate of which he was administrator.

If this is the case he is all right. Nobody ever yet got in jail for robbing an estate. It has become a regularly recognized industry and upheld by precedence and public.

A man who becomes a professional looter of the estates of widows and orphans invariably gets rich and is never prosecuted. They start in with a small estate, get away with it, try a little larger game, and step by step their experience in robbery enables them to systematically get away with 95 per cent of any estate in their hands, and as far as we can learn there is no law to prevent a man cleaning up estates.

The method is very simple. They pay bills against the estates for 50 cents on a dollar, get receipts in full and pocket the difference. They prefer creditors and get liberal commissions for doing so.

They allow property to go delinquent, bid it in at tax sales and thus acquire possession. Then a report is made to the court. The items are all lumped and the court accepts the report and the thief goes on his way rejoicing.

If Flood has been robbing estates he need never fear the inside of a jail.

AGAINST PATENT OUTSIDES.

A case was recently decided in California that a patent outside newspaper, part of which was printed in the county where it was published and part in San Francisco, was not "a paper printed in the county" under the statute.

This point we believe has never been raised in Nevada, but it seems good law. A patent outside printed in San Francisco is not legally a paper printed in some county other than San Francisco county.

Under the wording of the statute a Board of County Commissioners could not legally give county printing to a paper half printed outside of the county if there was another paper wholly printed in the county.

An "Appeal" Fake.

As will be seen by the dispatches a man in San Diego is about to raise oranges and lemons by electricity.

A year or so ago the APPEAL wrote up a fake, intended as a joke on Major McLaughlin, of Oreville, stating that he was raising oranges by electricity on the Thermolet orange tract, part of which was owned by Edison.

The item traveled all over the earth and a Florida man wrote to the Major that it was an infringement on his patent and threatened suit. The long correspondence between the two, in sober earnest on one side and mock solemnity on the other, is in our possession and very laughable.

The agricultural journals took it up and discussed the matter with great gravity.

The French Academy of Sciences have tried it and report surprising results. Now the growing of fruit by electricity proves to be a great industry.

Well did you ever!

Jay Advertisers.

The proprietors of the Mackaye Spectatorium of Chicago are sending out weekly "news items" to the press which are simply elaborate puff of the show which the Mackaye Spectatorium crowd expect the papers to run free. Every editor should be careful to see that such stuff reaches the waste basket in short order.

Another matter the APPEAL desires to call the attention of the Nevada papers to, is the ridiculous rates they are getting from the Baking Powder Companies, Price and the Royal.

They give up to the foreign company four times the price they give to a steady home advertiser for the same money. The APPEAL has persistently refused the business of these baking powder firms unless they pay the same rate charged the local dealers who patronize this office.

They are in the habit of beating the papers down to what they can get, but if the papers all decide to refuse their business except at paying rates they will soon come to the publishers' terms, as without liberal advertising they cannot sell their wares.
